In line with the Trust's approach to protecting personal data, where the number of individuals is fewer than five, figures have been replaced with #. This is to reduce the risk of individuals being identified, either directly or indirectly, when the information is combined with other data that may already be in the public domain.

This approach is consistent with the principles of the UK General Data Protection Regulation and the Data Protection Act 2018.

I would appreciate any information you can provide in line with your data protection policies.
